No, not graduates . . . but they've toiled, played, and suffered along with us from beginning to end. Pleasant memories of wonderful parties, chop suey dinners, and the mellow notes of an organ drifting through a roomful of tired, contented girls. Hours of planning, worrying, giving advice, and doling out grades. They've shared in every experience, been companions as well as guides. They've worked for us and with us, and we're for them, one and all. Ask any senior . . . she'll say, "They're tops!"

Curriculum

CLASSES AND STUDIES

"Pea green freshmen" are initiated into the curriculum with long hours spent in the lab dissecting frogs for science and in observations on children in the Dem. School for special reports in Childhood Education. Of course, there are the arts and Mr. Bo's woodwork classes to complete before attempting all the constructions for Social Studies in the sophomore year. Units on Indians, transportation, and farm life . . . plus beginning student teaching are added to the schedule. Then come specialization, definite courses pertaining to our profession and state required subjects in the last two years. Finally, there are interviews, dreams of the future . . . and at long last graduation.

STUDENT TEACHING

We speak of the joys of the student teacher and we smile, because we know they are few and far between.

We think back upon our weeks of teaching and we ache, remembering hours spent cleaning paint brushes, bent over a sink too low.

We remember all our children and we glow, pointing with pride to their achievements and their growth with a feeling of deep satisfaction.

We dream of our lofty goals . . . integrated personalities, vital living, education for peace . . . and we sigh. Peace! Ah! If we could only have it in our classroom.

COLLEGE COUNCIL

College Council . . . aggreagte of energetic student leaders, subjected to fiery orations, fervent discussions, faculty filibusters. The college thinkers and doers planning and working together.

College Council . . . scene of humming student activities, Red Cross drives, festival arrangements, prospect teas and graduation plans. Whispered tidbits to point-pounding speakers, nervous giggles and untimely yawns.

College Council . . . essence of student-faculty cooperation; staunch guardian of National's democracy.

D. G. A.

Once again 170 diverse personalities housed under the roof of Marienthal have been moulded into an enthusiastic group of dormites, court callers, and banister peekers to surpass previous dwellers. Dormites have marched to and from the college with infantry-like precision, steadfastly maintained tomblike quiet hours, entertained lonely service men in the date room. Together they have studied, bull-sessioned, read each other's letters, solved world problems, shared laundry case cookies. Together they have lived . . . and liked it.

Left to Right—Louise Hanchett, Treas.; Jeanne Clark, Soc. Chm.; Sally Hyde, V. Pres.; Carol Corper, Sec.; Miss Weller, Counselor; Jean Ward, Pres.

T. G. A.

Tiresome hours of commuting, endless waiting at Howard Street for change of trains. Now and then an extra gallon of gas for the family car to drive friends to school. Whatever the mode of transportation, the T.G's invariably arrive filled with new ideas and pep to sponsor dances and activities. Spare minutes are spent catching 40 winks of sleep or discussing current topics, school news, or men. Passing two thirds of their day at school and only one third at home, they may be sick-of-home, but not homesick.

Midnight oil burning, aching fingers pecking a typewriter, heads huddled together in last minute sessions are all signs that Chaff will soon be out. Reporters dash here, there, and everywhere in search for more news and gossip. Editors add headlines and find the latest scoop of the week. Dashes to the printer's office, galley proofing and last minute skirmishes climax a a Chaff issue. The completed paper, Chaff . . . the Editor's headache and dream.

Annual—Agent of jagged nerves, alienated roommates, sleepless nights. Harassed editors and slaving staff members beg for extended deadlines. The calm engraver and frantic printer bravely await developments. The naive student body impatiently awaits—Annual. How we love it; how we work for it. We struggle through resounding decisions, mid-night conferences, journeys to the photographer. That's Annual. We quietly endure blinding flash bulbs, pounding typewriters, dummy dilemmas. That's Annual too. National—our Alma Mater—our Annual.

ATHLETICS

Maybe we didn't always come out on top—but we had fun. Maybe we weren't all Helen Moodys—but we tried!

"One, two, three . . . hit" initiated hockey and the year of sports. Our freshmen won the puck and the contests. A shining cup for their efforts.

"Captains ready" thrilled us as we waited for the throw in. Herculean persistency was necessary, but the freshmen came through again. Volley ball with well-placed hits and good team work equalled a junior victory.

Badminton, with California and Midwest styles represented, ushered in spring.

That's not all either. We played tennis until we were stiff and scorched, and arched until we left our mark in the bull's eye.

A different year, new cups and new winners, but the same old National spirit and lots of fun.

My, you look exhausted

COMMUNITY SERVICE IN WARTIME

War Council, established to carry out the aims of National at war, was kept busy from fall to spring. Fall brought the drive for money to support David, National's British foster child, and to buy Christmas presents for him. The postwar conference with speakers, panels, and discussions terminating in the evening with Caroll Binder's speech and music by the Great Lakes choir climaxed the winter's activities. Efforts to keep the Minute Man Flag flying were renewed with new zest in spring. War stamps sales, salvage drives, blood bank donations, and U.S.O. dances were carried on through each month. From September through May it was a successful year.

Devoting Saturdays to the entertainment of these babies at the Children's Memorial Hospital is more play than work.

Social

Both student body and community members cooperated and brought to National a sampling of life about us. The arts were represented at the Bazaar and the Hobby Show. Musical contributions were made by the Great Lakes' Choir and the Mendelssohn Glee Club. In a true democratic spirit, outside speakers shared experiences and ideas with us in the Tuesday afternoon assemblies. At the Post-War Conference, leading educationalists discussed inter-racial minority problems in a cultural democracy. All these activities served as an inspiring incentive for future planning.

Activities

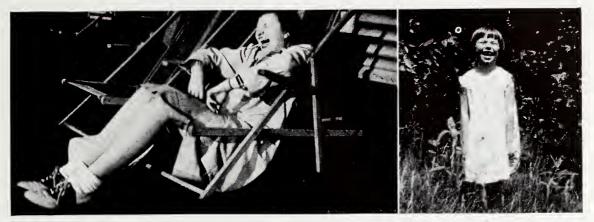

What rosy cheeks you have, Katrinka! All American girls.

Hoot Nanny has gone to her head.

Tea on 3-B.

It takes all kinds.

Such a jolly char-woman.

Bet she hurt her pride

What? A frustrated child at National?

OFF GUARD MOMENTS

"Get your peanuts, popcorn and cracker jack here." That hopeful smile. Pin-up queens

The outdoor girl!

Yes, he loves you.

Court peeker

Quick, get a talent scout

Home to roost

Snow use, you won't get it shoveled

DORMITORY LIFE

Look what was shipped to National!

Smile, everyone, smile

Monkey shines

PRELUDE TO ROMANCE

Glamorous now, but just take a look at what we must go through

A pressing time.

"Who's that knocking at my door?"

Super service.

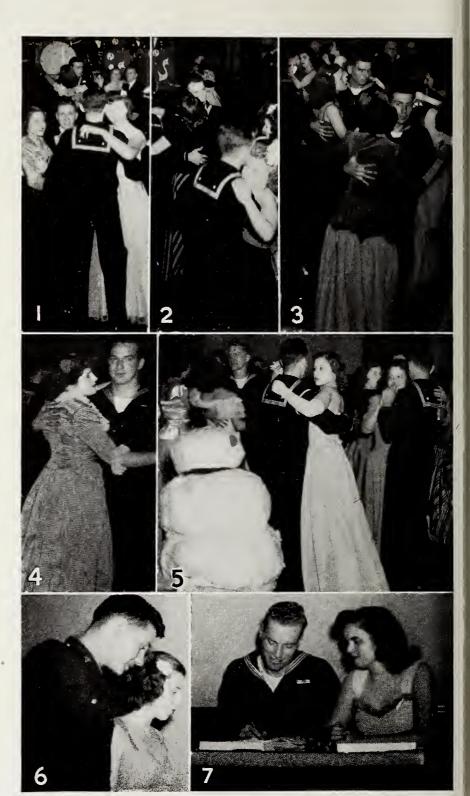

The last minute touch.

Bannister peekers approve.

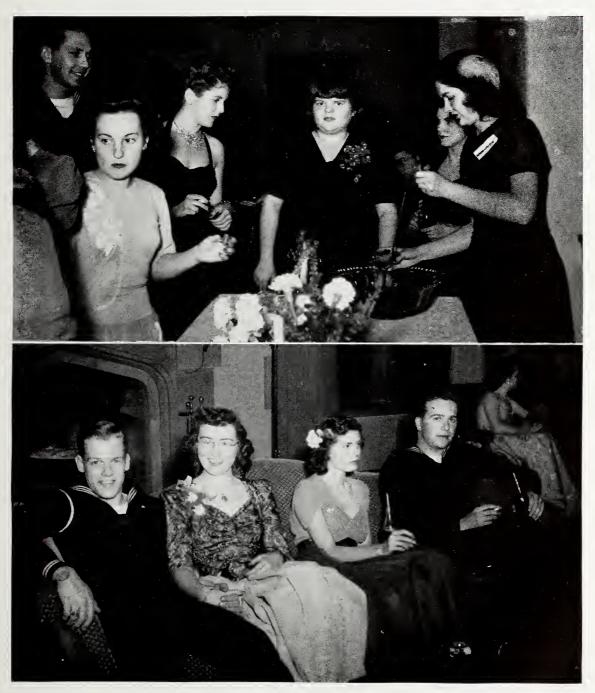

DANCES

- 1. Having a wonderful time.
- 2. Cheek to cheek.
- 3. The floor is rather crowded.
- 4. "Two's company."
- 5. The snowman looks on in wonder.
- 6. A soldier? My, My!
- 7. Full house.

National dances will long be remembered after graduation day. When '44 has gone its way, soft music, a little bit of jive, and mixers will all be intermingled in our memories. A few of us invited our own special dates. But the greater majority entertained the tall or the short, the serious-minded and the good-natured Midshipmen from Maine to California. Yes, we'll remember our dances in the war years of '43 and '44 and the many Navy boys who helped to make our evenings memorable ones.

Refreshments for all.

Intermission for four.

THE MEN IN OUR LIVES

V-mail, special deliveries, and air mail letters keep spirits high; long-awaited furloughs and leaves make week ends exciting. Diamonds sparkle; wedding bells peal. Men...romance...love...ummmm.

Smoothies.

Put your arms around me, Honey.

A picture book bride.

Mob scene.

scene. The tall and the short of it.

It pays to be a hostess. Cuddle up. Here comes the bride.

Lt. and Mrs. Field. The Army takes over. And here comes the Navy.

FESTIVALS

Bobbing, bicycling, bending. Exercises that stretch lazy muscles and exercises that just plain hurt. Extensions and flexions, grace and power. Then one day you begin to create, responding to the intimate invitations of aesthetic melody or throbbing to the demands of vibrant rhythm. Bodies bending and bowing, charging through space, no longer a part of your being but a part of a living experience. A stage becomes your background; footlights your inspiration; the audience your puppets. You control them; you sway them; you thrill with them, for you have felt the powers of a stage production.

THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving and harvest; Thanksgiving and faith are the two themes interwoven into one festival. Harvest brings joy, gaiety, and color. Grapes, pumpkins, and cornstalks dance together in weaving, whirling patterns. Movements portray all the activities characteristic of harvest and its festival of Thanksgiving.

Troubled hearts search for faith in a war torn world. Faith is found entirely by some; partially by others; only slightly by few. But all sense the need for faith . . . faith found in the inspiring day known as Thanksgiving.

CHRISTMAS

SPRING FESTIVAL

AMERICA DANCES

America dances! Youth and age
Throb to the rhythmic beat;
Forest and Mansion, old and new—
In dancing their spirits meet.
Thrill to the glory of hearts that are bold,
To the magic of shy romance;
Capture the dreams of a youth that's free
And feel America dance!

THE RYE WALTZ

THE CAN-CAN

Festival instigated by girls of the junior and senior classes, directed by student leaders, Betsy Robson, Pat Holden, and Louise Romig. Dances choreographed by members of the cast. Costume room ransacked for old remnants of costumes which were remade by players for the brave Indians, gay waltzers, and flirtatious can-canners.

Practices at the dorm. Pushing aside tables in the dining room to make room for a stage. Can-Can girls flirting before the full-length mirror; stately performers curtsying and bowing to the strains of the minuet; Negroes swaying to the rhythm of "Dark Town Strutter's Ball."

Rehearsals at school. Long hours, late at night. "Swing your partner, smile at the audience, watch your cues."

Make-up, grease, powdered hair and blackened skin. House lights low; spotlights brilliant. The final performance—America Dances.

MAY COURT

Jean Ward; Mary MacLean; Lucille Murray; Patricia Holden; Virginia Pool; Louise Romig; Lillian Owens; Rosemary Hendry. Betsy Robson, The Queen.

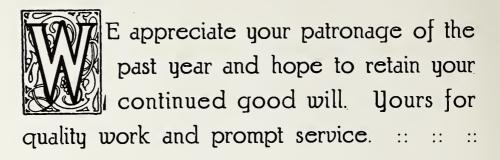

Hushed excitement, whispered queries, straining eyes, audience breathless with anticipation. Resounding piano chords in ringing splendor, regal attendants in quiet dignity. Suspense, climactic suspense! Suddenly, amid the cheers and applause of the audience, appeared Betsy Robson, resplendent in flaming red gown. Betsy Robson—Queen of the May.
